Religious Services at Ball Game.

Minneapolis had its first religious service at a professional base ball game Sunday when the Rev. G. L. Morrill delivered a short address before the Minneapolis-Kansas City game at Nicollet Park. Fully 7,000 fans were in attendance and that part of the stands that could hear the speaker listened intently while Mr. Morrill spoke. He was introduced by Umpire King and quiet reigned throughout the park during the service.

"The West," said Mr. Morrill, "is never content to be behind the East in any progressive movement and will not take a back seat when baseball religious services be considered. For myself, I do not usually attend Sunday games, because I go every other day in the week, but there is no reason why others than myself should not enjoy this sport. Live and let live is a pretty good motto and I believe that this crowd is largely made up of men who have but this one weekly chance to see the Minneapolis club fight for the pennant. I believe the only sin of Sunday baseball is for the home team to lose, so say to the Minneapolis boys: 'Go in and climb a notch toward the flag.'"

A Big Day.

The management of the Kentucky State Fair has designated Thursday, September 16, as Kentucky Day, Pres. Day, and Good Roads Day. The State Fair is an institution of which every Kentuckian should be proud. Its effectiveness in exploiting the live stock, agricultural and horticultural interests of the Commonwealth cannot be too highly estimated, and goes far toward evidencing Kentucky's foremost rank among progressive states. It is a happy combination which couple Kentucky Day with Good Roads and the Press, two factors which above all others, perhaps, means most in the State's development.
